LOCO FOCISM AND VAN BURENISM
IN THE EMPIRE STATE

COMPLETELY OVERTHROWN AND EFFECTUALLY EXTINGUISHED!

We congratulate our fellow citizens throughout the country on this great triumph of merit principles in New York, over the abominable doctrinal Loco-focism—a Jackson and Van Burenism, mixed together.—And we rejoice because we heartily unite with our Whig friends from Maine to Georgia in rejoicing. We rejoice, because we consider this achievement a harbinger of a great change in the policy of the government. We rejoice because we are sure of better times. We rejoice because we consider the result as evidence of the durability of our republican institutions. We rejoice because we believe it a great triumph of virtue over vice, and of order over anarchy and confusion.—We rejoice because it seems office holders who abuse their power, yet, that they are not independent of the people. We rejoice because this brilliant achievement will put an end, we hope, to that abominable doctrine, that “the people belong to the voters.” We rejoice because we think it will restore the currency of the country to its natural channel. In fine, we rejoice because we see the “REIGN OF TERROR” is in a fair way to terminate.

Whig loss. The only County in the State, where the Whigs have lost ground, is the County, where the Whigs have lost ground. There was not a fall vote in these Counties. The losses, viz. 224 in Erie and 309 in Genesee, are deducted in the following.

The above Schedule embraces all the Counties in the State, Hamilton being with Montgomery. A few are left to estimate. But the official returns have received full scope in aggregate. The Whigs, about as far as stated are 47,000 and a W. V. B. of about 10,000. The Van Buren and Northern on the Electoral vote, was 22,272. The Whig majority that year is not quite so large as the V. B. majority was two years.

The Legislature is divided as follows:

Whigs.	Van Buren.
Senate.	10
Assembly.	101
	27
	111
	49
Whig majority.	62

Last year the state of parties was as follows:

Whigs.	V. B.
Senate.	5
House.	34
	34
	59
Whig majority.	29

Van Buren and last year joint ballot 82. Whig majority 62. Total 144.

Whig relative gain. Whig absolute gain. 72. N. Y. J. of Com. 67. Total 72. N. Y. J. of Com.

A Great Nation rejoicing.

The revolution which has taken place in public sentiment in political matters within a few months, and now particularly in Rhode Island, Maine, Massachusetts, and (as things not least) in the great Empire State, (N. Y.) has produced such a pleasing sensation throughout the country, that it would seem that the people can hardly restrain themselves from appearing like children overjoyed. But no wonder, when all the circumstances are taken into consideration. They are perfectly execscable, and even justifiable. It is a second achievement of independence. But we are happy to notice that the rejoicing is disorderly in some respects to those disgusting humours of our opponents for several years past on their success.—They don't seem to value from any abolition man worship; they are not showing glory for a military chieftain, nor any source of evil power; but for a great triumph over usurpation of power, profligacy and an intolerant spirit of persecution and proscription.

These exhibitions and rejoicings are taking place in almost every large town in the Union. But

IN THE EMPIRE STATE, nothing ever exceeded the proportion which they appear to be making for a GREAT GENERAL JUBILEE. It is to take place to-morrow. A sum of FOUR HUNDRED GUNS is to be fired in the city of New York at noon, FOUR HUNDRED at sunset and TWO HUNDRED at 10 o'clock in the evening. At 10 o'clock A. M. the firing of a salute is to commence at Buffalo and be continued through the whole line of the canal to Albany. All shipping and boats in port are to be seen moving with signals through the day, and illuminated as the evening. The bells of all the churches to ring a merry peal for half an hour each, at sunrise, noon and sunset. Illuminations of all the public houses, and fire works, in the evening. We guess they will have glory enough for one day.

OLD MASSACHUSETTS FOREVER.

The election in this state took place on Monday. The following, from the Boston Atlas, is THE FIRST GUN.

We believe we shall be safe in saying that the election is a single round in districts in the Commonwealth, in which there is not a Whig gain. In the city of Boston, we have, for the first time, carried every Ward. Even Ward two, so long invincible held of the Tories has yielded at last.—The Whigs being carried it by a small majority. The total Whig majority in the city is 2126. The LARGEST MAJORITY ever obtained here at any election by any political party! The Whig 2200 since last year is up to 2400. The majority for Gov. Everett, in the State last year, was 5,941. He has gained in 56 towns, 5,075. In this proportion he gains through the State, will yield his majority in TWENTY THREE.

THE SECOND GUN.—The election returns from 263 towns, (see the Boston Daily Times) give Everett, (Whig) 47,544, Weston, (V. B.) 31,676, Everett, majority 15,868.

THE THIRD GUN.—Returns from 267 towns give the following vote:

For Edward Everett 51,139

For Marcus Morton 33,333

Ten towns to be heard from—Whig gain in one year about 12,000!—All hail!—Old Massachusetts forever!—and one hundred guns to close with!!!

MICHIGAN.

We make a guess that this State, too, has gone for the Whigs. At the election of Congressmen Sept. 5th, Wayne County, mentioned below, gave a Van Buren majority of 444; being larger than was given by any other County in the state.

From the Buffalo Daily Courier, &c.

Michigan Election.—The sound of the gun of victory comes bounding over the blue waters of Lake Michigan. The good cause has triumphed in Wayne County, by 900 majority, in Detroit we are beaten by 300 more. Our friends there are in high spirits and confidently anticipate a complete regeneration of the state. May their hopes be fulfilled.

Loco Focism and Van Buren Democracy.

The editor of the Burlington (Ivy) Sentinel is laboring hard to divorce Loco Focism and modern democracy. Should he succeed, “the party” to which he would belong would be diminished to a much less fraction than it now is. The editor complains of unfair dealing of the Whig press in “identifying democracy with loco-focism,” and thus strangely remarks on the subject—

If it be opposed to the present system of banking it is to be loco too, then, by no means, are the members of that party confined to the friends of the administration. There is a large and highly respectable portion of the federal (Whig) party whose opposition to banking is decided and openly avowed as the opposite of the friends of the administration can be.

What say you neighbor Stone and Mr. Free Pressman to this statement? We thought the Whig party was exclusively and all singular the bank party, (according to your creed), and the tories exclusively of the anti-bank party? Ain’t your frail brother Parsons of the Sentinel paddling a little?

The tiny papers are complaining that the Whigs make too much noise about the late political triumphs of New York, Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode Island, &c. They don’t like to hear the roar of cannon, just now. They probably had rather hear the old “hurrah for Jackson.” But the day has gone by for cheering an usurper or him who considered it “glory enough to receive under such a chief.” Wonder if the Hero’s successor will still continue to “tread in his footsteps?”

Our Whig friends at Montpelier celebrated the late victories on the 13th inst., by a salute of one hundred and ten guns, the ringing of bells, &c.

SMALL POX.—We are sorry to learn that this loathsome disease has broken out in Woodstock, and the stage driver yesterday understood there were eight or ten supposed cases, and one death.

New York.—Such a route of Van Buren loco-focism as has taken place in the great Empire State, was never before experienced by any political party since the Government was established. And why? The cause is apparent. It is the war of the Government against the people—first begun by Andrew Jackson in the removal of the deposits, arbitrarily and in violation of the law—next in destroying the bank itself by vetoing the will of the people, both branches of Congress having, by large majorities, passed the bill to re-charter that institution. This struck a death-blow to domestic exchanges, and laid the foundation for a prostration of public confidence in the stability of all banking institutions. Next, the removal of the deposits in private banks gave facilities to immense speculations, and to the increase of banking capital beyond all former example. Next, to a run for specie—next, to the suspension of specie payments to avoid bankruptcy—next, to the doctrine that the Government should have specie, while this rag money was good enough for the people—and this last decision, carried out by paying members of congress their eight dollars a day, and other government officers in specie, while the poor old sailors and other creditors of Government, even the day laborer in government service, had to take bank bills or nothing. These are a few of the causes. They have been warned from time to time, but they were intemperate, like Bonaparte at Moscow, not dreaming that they must retreat, and that over the bridge of Berezina, not capable of sustaining such a weight. There they are. So much for “following in the footsteps” of the “revered Chief”—N. Y. Herald.

WHAT DO THE NEW YORK VAN BUREN PAPERS SAY?

HEAD AND FEATHER WELL.

The Election.—The unfavorable results in our own county, given yesterday, were only the prelude to an adverse political tempest that seems to have swept the state. At first, we don’t hear of a single county in which the Democratic ticket has succeeded; and we begin to tremble in the name of the weakest and strongest heads of the democracy. We shall sit at the moment ready to inquire into causes. It is sufficient now to give results.

The opposition have undoubtedly elected a majority of the Assembly, probably two to one.

From the Poughkeepsie Journal, V. B. paper.

We are down, and there is no help for us. The predictions we have so often told before our friends, have been disregarded, and now they see them to be fearfully true. The commanding task of the Loco Focist, against whom we have warned them, has worked out its promised results, and a sistering zone, the product of an unhallowed alliance with the destructionists, has rankled, until the whole has become deadlock and dead heat.

—Roxbury 2d. Whitney has written a long letter to Mr. Van Buren through the Advertiser, in which he gives his strong opinion against the whig system, and is evidently engaged in discussing the Loco Focist & loc.

ALL-HAIL—THE TWO FOLLIES IS AFLOAT.

Among the numerous “all-hails” of late, and we have had a “bad show,” none gives us more gratification than the information contained in the following Letter from our friend Major Downing.

The release of the “Two Follies” from her long prison position is in our opinion a mere prelude to the escape of hundreds from the hold and quicksands in which she has been plunged,—the mortals plane away.

We commend the proposition mentioned respecting the committee of 50. It is well to hear around that we are called on, not to imitate bad examples, but to set good ones. We believe this is the Major’s notion, and the Major is known in all these matters.

It is the Advertiser, I. E. Nov. 11, 1837, 5.

To the Editors of the N. Y. D. Express.

General—thank you for sending me the papers regularly—but I must bid time to write to you for some time.

I inclose my last letter tell you about the condition of Uncle Sam and his brothers, and you may ascertain it all yourself—with the “Two Follies” in effect; and this is high upon the way home about—Some weeks ago I got a letter from Uncle Sam, telling me to keep a sharp lookout for the “Follies” along about the beginning of November—told them they had had a pretty high standard, etc., and shortly before that these were a considerable rise in Rhode Island and would certainly be the same all along shore, and every hydra who could get off, all come on board—and such a line as we had there for a spell. I had been told to look out for the Whig boat, and when I got home again, I found it had been a very successful day, and the Whig boat had been captured by the Follies. The Follies had been a great success, and the Whig boat had been a failure, and the Follies had been a great success, and the Whig
